Rafter & Ceiling Cleaning

Rafter and ceiling cleaning can be done for many purposes such as quality or ascetic purposes, preparation for high surface painting, or a manufacturing facility you could have debris falling from high surfaces that lead to quality defects or even for safety reasons. It is very important to choose a contractor that specializes in rafter and ceiling cleaning & has the correct experience and training in order to complete the job.

There are many disadvantages to having dirty rafters and ceilings such as damage to expensive machinery, having debris fall to the surface below and causing issues such as quality control or even posing a fire hazard. These situations occur because of the grease, dirt and dust build up in the rafters and ceilings of manufacturing and production facilities.

Manufacturing and production facilities should not be the only ones that can utilize this service, Warehouse, theatres, gymnasiums and other facilities that need to have this service performed can benefit from a variety of reasons from the ones mentioned above.

We provide you with the best quality services guaranteed Our services include but are not limited to:

- Rafters
- Ceiling Trusses
- Ceiling Deck
- Outside of ductwork
- Lighting
- Conduit
- Piping
- Beams
- And other elevated surfaces of dust and debris

SIMMCO Inc has the answers to your problems. We will utilize a variety of scissor lifts along with sets of ladders and scaffolding in order to reach high surfaces for cleaning. We guarantee that our technicians have had OSHA training, including their fall protection training and we make sure that safety is one of our top priorities at all times during your project.
